

Frequently Asked Questions (FAQs) for the OVPR Quarterly Strategic Investment Process

1. Does this process replace funding mechanisms for cost share, start-ups/retention offers, Core/Specialized Services or other processes?

The OVPR Quarterly Strategic Investment does not replace these funding activities. Requests for mandatory cost share, start-up and retention offers, Core/Specialized Facilities, and other processes will continue to be handled separately.

2. Are there limits on the amount of funding that can be requested?

The minimum funding amount that will be considered for this process is $2,500 from all combined sources. Requests for needs below this amount should be directed to appropriate College/Departmental channels. If only a small amount of funding is required, applicants with similar needs may aggregate these requests into one proposal that meets the minimum request amount. For requests without cost share match, the maximum allowable request is $10,000 from the OVPR, and requests over $10,000 from the OVPR must demonstrate shared funding participation. Although there is no maximum on the amount that can be requested with cost share, the Quarterly Strategic Investment fund has a limited amount of funds available. Awards are limited to the funds available. As such, funding very large requests (e.g. > $50K) through this mechanism may be challenging. We encourage proposers seeking such contributions from the OVPR to initiate a discussion prior to submission by sending an email to Chandra (chandra@colostate.edu).

3. What is the review process? What funding criteria are being used?

All proposals will be reviewed by members of the VPR Executive Committee and an internal review committee that may include members of advisory groups such as VPAC and CRAD or former recipients of quarterly investment funds, as needed. The final allocation decisions will be made by the OVPR. Proposals will be evaluated based on the merits of the request, considering the information provided and the review criteria given in the RFP. Feedback will be provided on all requests in each funding cycle and unfunded requests may be submitted in a subsequent cycle. We encourage PIs to discuss the feedback they received prior to a resubmission. The amount of funding requested is only a determinant relative to the total funding available. Special consideration will be given to activities that are broad-reaching, collaborative, and/or that increase/support diversity, equity, and inclusion or seek to remove disparities in research continuity. Likewise, collaborative cost share funding from PIs, colleges, departments, and other sources is strongly encouraged and will be viewed positively in the review process.

4. How long will it take to make funding decisions?

Funding decisions for proposals submitted under this process will be made within 6 weeks after the submission deadline.

5. What if there is a critical funding need that falls outside the submission period?

The OVPR will continue to accept funding requests that are of a critical (emergency) nature or that represent unanticipated college and department needs. Examples could include catastrophic instrument failures or other unforeseen circumstances. For these circumstances, please initiate a discussion with the OVPR by sending an email to Chandra (chandra@colostate.edu).

6. I submitted a proposal and was provided funding in a prior period. Can I submit another funding proposal in the future?

Funding decisions are based on the merits of the proposals received within a given funding period. Given the limited funding available, the OVPR seeks to make funds available as broadly as possible across the entire campus. Nevertheless, the OVPR will accept multiple funding requests from the same individual, but not in the same cycle and not for the same project. Applicants who have been funded for requests in the previous two cycles are discouraged from submitting another request.

8. Will requests for bridge funds to retain faculty/staff/other personnel or to fill a gap in research project funding be allowed?

Traditional bridge funding requests to support temporary funding gaps in ongoing research programs that have lost funding will not be supported. If faculty retention issues arise, these should be brought directly to the VPR and should not go through this process. See also question 11 below.

10. Can I request renovation funds through this process?

One of the eligible costs categories is research infrastructure, including construction, alteration, or renovation of research space. A request in this category, however, should be focused on new needs or opportunities (e.g. new research directions that require alteration to the physical space), rather than renovations associated with general project needs or aesthetics.

11. I submitted a proposal and was provided funding in a prior period. Can I submit another funding proposal in the future?

Given the limited funding available, the OVPR would like to make funds available as broadly as possible across the entire campus. The OVPR will accept multiple funding requests from the same individual, but applicants who have been funded for requests in the previous two cycles are discouraged from submitting another request until that timeframe has passed. Funding decisions are based on the merits of the proposals received in a given funding period.
